Reflections at 17

Worth Brewing turns 17 and I've been a part of this crew nearly 7 years. In case you haven't figured it out, the voice behind the newsletter the past couple years has been Nikkole. In my time here I've expanded my responsibilities from beertender to include ballroom events coordinator, social media promoter, website updater, newsletter writer, and trivia host. I have also had the pleasure of taking the Cicerone Beer Server certification in which I expanded my beer knowledge. I have really enjoyed working with other staff members alongside Peter to create some new brews on the Sabco system, our latest being the Karaliene Baltyki Porter.

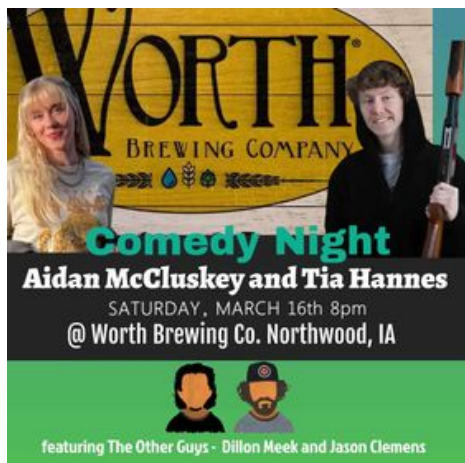

Many changes have taken place here in the building during these 7 years as well--acquiring a bottling machine, crowler machine, the new upper bar decor designed by Peter, obtaining our liquor license, and a soon-to-be-installed pizza oven.

Peter is proud that Worth Brewing is one of 3 buildings in town he has helped to restore, along with working on the national registry listings. While brewing is second nature to Peter, he has continued to learn many non-brewing skills related to business ownership such as payroll, taxes and promotion. Peter is the most in his element when he is brewing any batch of beer and interacting with our loyal, longtime customers. His favorite beer from the past year of brewing has been the Pils for Paws.

Thanks for making these 17 years so memorable! Cheers to many more!
